ABSTRACT

This report presents data comparing budgets, levies, and enrollments of small, rural schools (Class "C") in Montana for fiscal year 1994-95. The average enrollment of 56 elementary schools was 136 students; the average enrollment of 56 high schools was 70 students. The average total enrollment of Class "C" schools was 190 students. Other data presented are: (1) taxable valuation; (2) taxable valuation per average number belonging (ANB); (3) general fund budgets without special education; (4) cost to general fund per ANB without special education; (5) guaranteed tax base for district per mill; (6) over base budget in dollars; (7) over base levy mills required; (8) general fund reserve as percent of general fund; (9) special education budget and full-time personnel; (10) transportation budget cost per enrollment figure; (11) teacher salaries as percent of total general fund; (12) teacher/enrollment ratio; (13) teacher salary schedules; (14) highest teacher salary on negotiated levels; and (15) summary of noncertified staff and extra duty items. Many areas are broken down into elementary, high school, and K-12, and presented in rank order. Addendum includes salary amounts for instructional aides, noncertified staff, and extra duty salaries listed by school. (LP)

INTRODUCTION

This year's Class C Survey represents 86 of the 95 public schools in this category, or 91 percent, and includes two of the five private schools as well. While Seeley-Swan is considered a Class C District for activities, it cannot be considered one for this survey, because the high school figures are part of the Missoula School District, so they are not counted in this total.

This will be the fourth year that the Survey will be submitted to ERIC; specifically it is sent to the ERIC Clearinghouse on Rural Education and Small Schools. Also, since the Center gets requests for copies of the survey from some out-of-state researchers, it is important to note that the Class C designation represents the smallest K-12 districts in the state. This is a grouping commonly used by Montana educators, but it really comes from the Montana High School Association which divides the school districts into different sizes for competitive activities and is not any sort of a legal or state agency grouping.

When the Center wrote the survey for this year, two categories were added in the extra-duty items: Girls Softball, Head Coach and Soccer, Head Coach. Unfortunately, no returned survey had any amounts after these two categories, but there were some comments like "we wish we had one" in those spaces. Since there were no entries, these two categories do not appear on the complete survey. We will continue to include them on the form we send out in future years in the hope that some innovative Class C school district may begin to fund these two sports.

Three years ago school districts had the opportunity to combine into K-12 districts if they had coterminous boundaries. Three years ago eight districts did so. Last year there were 21 K-12 districts. This year there are 32. Class C School districts are clearly making an effort to cut their numbers where they can.

Our thanks to those of you who filled out this year's survey, and a special thanks to those of you who fill out the survey year after year. Here in the Rural Education Center, it is interesting to note that some people value this information, and even though they move from school to school they continue to fill out the survey. Others who don't find it worthwhile, don't participate and when they move, the new school in which they work no longer gets included in the survey. Still for almost 85 percent of the Class C school districts of Montana, the Center now has data for the last fourteen years.

Because the survey is taken from the data each school district provides, the reader may find some inconsistencies and question an occasional figure. In the editing process, the Center tries to pick up on obvious errors, however, it is possible that a few do slip through.

This survey is compiled and published as a service to the small schools of Montana by the Rural Education Center of Western Montana College of The University of Montana. This year the Center was endorsed by the National Rural Education Association as a nationally recognized rural education research center, one of only five in the country. It is projects like the Class C Survey which helped the Center receive this prestigious designation. We hope the reader continues to find this research, as well as other services, worthwhile.
